Screen fast 100, screen material : rare earth, green emitting color, film compatibility : orthochromatic green films

Product description:

ABS CAWO cassette mouted with a pair of OG2 screens.

Magnetism for sharp images

By virtue of a specially designed magnetic system, the ABS cassette provides uniform contact between the film and the screens. The back screen is mounted on a magnetized rubber cushion. The tube side screen is mounted on a steel foil. The magnetic attraction between the magnetized rubber and the steel foil holds the screens and the film tightly together. And the result is an image which is sharper than ever. In addition, magnetism is both fail-proof and permanent. A twofold advantage then. Reliable image quality and long life of the cassette.

Practical maintenance

The life of ABS cassettes is further enhanced by a design which is easily repairable. The closing mechanism and the hinge are easily replaced with the help of a simple screwdriver and are available from CAWO as replacement parts.

ID window

CAWO can, if desired, supply cassettes with an ID window. With the CAWO ID Camera or with a similar identification camera you can easily specify all necessary patient data onto the film.

Tough body, light weight

The ABS cassette is 30% lighter than metal cassettes. It is injection-moulded from rugged Novodur®, combining rigidity and durability with minimum weight. The ABS cassette is not only known for its basic unique design and construction. Consider also the unique rubber corners and extra secure locking features, both ensuring that cassettes do not pop open – even in the event of accidentally being dropped.

Quality in all situations

Novodur® is a particularly temperature-resistant material, bearing up well under extremes in climatic conditions. Another plus for the reliability and the life expectancy of the ABS cassette. This applies in whatever part of the world you want to use them and in whatever situations.
